AT WASHINGTON.

Arizona Not Well Pleased With the President's Appointments.

On Wednesday of last week the name of Ben Daniels, a fero dealer of Nogales was sent by Prest. Roosevelt to the Senate for confirmation as U. S. Marshal for Arizona, and the name of Fredrick S. Nave, also of Nogales, was sent in for confirmation as U. S. Attorney for Arizona.

In these appointments the President has not consulted the wishes of the people of the Territory. Mr. Nave has lived in the Territory about three years and about the only thing he ever did in the Territory in a public capacity was to act as clerk for the Code. Commission.

In this capacity he fixed things to suit himself and did such "raw" work that he incurred the displeasure of everyone who had anything to do with it. The Legislative committees having the code in charge spent days correcting misspelled words and grammatical errors in those portions which had been written by Nave. At that time some of the Phoenix newspapers referred to him as that man K-nave.

By attorneys of standing he is not even regarded as an ordinary lawyer, yet because Teddy says so Arizona must acknowledge a man of his character as her leading lawyer. Some of the President's acts are very amazing. If a senator approaches him in a crowd and asks for the appointment of a friend Roosevelt will bluster and storm and yell that no appointments shall be made except on merit.

Yet we see two men appointed in Arizona without scarcely a single endorsement. Was this merit, or was it an eastern pull? Arizona is entitled to more consideration than this but she will never get it until she becomes a state. The only qualification Daniels seems to have had was that he was a Rough Rider. It is claimed that he is a Democrat, but we would not give much for the Democracy of a man who is appointed to office by Roosevelt. It is also claimed that he is a professional gambler and went from behind a roulette wheel direct to Washington, without endorsements and asked for and received the appointment of Marshal. As soon as the appointment became known in Arizona protests against his confirmation were sent by the hundreds protesting against his confirmation.

The 31st of this month has been set as the date on which congress will hear Arizona's claims for statehood presented.

Gov. Otero has been confirmed by the senate.

A remarkable scheme is under way, and seems to be on the verge of success, by which the mining privileges of the Uintah reservation, in Utah, are to be turned over to a New Jersey company. This concern is to have a monopoly of privileges which have hitherto been denied to all white men, but the reservation is not to be opened for settlement. It will remain in the hands of the Indians, while this concern is to get what there is there in a mineral way, to the exclusion of the people of Utah, who have been anxious for a chance at the mines for years, but have been excluded because the minerals are in an Indian reservation. Henry C. Payne, the new Postmaster General, is said to be the President of this company. Congressman James S. Sherman, of New York, the Chairman of the House Committee on Indian Affairs, and one of the most prominent Republicans in Congress is charged with being interested in it.

Judge Davis and U. S. District Attorney Nave have been confirmed by the senate.

Solomonville Disincorporated.

At the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors, the people of Solomonville petitioned that body to disincorporate the town. This leaves only three towns in the county now incorporated: Pima, Thatcher and Safford. We are sorry the people of the county seat were unable to maintain their incorporation.

Primary Dance.

The Primary Association of Layton will give a ball in Layton to-night, Friday. All are invited to attend. The children will dance from 6 to 9 o'clock and the adults from 9 to 1 o'clock. Pizzaro's orchestra, of Solomonville will furnish the music.

Robbery at Naco.

According to the Bisbee Review five prisoners, who had been lodged in the city jail, made good their escape and no clue to their whereabouts was left last Sunday night.

THATCHER ITEMS

Regular Correspondence to the GUARDIAN.

On last Monday morning while loading baled hay, Arthur Lewis of this place, was struck by a bale of hay which fell from the pile, breaking his leg. It appears that the pile of bales was a little top heavy and when one of the boys pulled a bale from the heavy side, about a ton of hay rolled down. One of the bales struck Arthur on the left leg just above the ankle breaking the bone. The boy dropped down onto the bale and with his own hands straightened his broken limb. He was afterward taken home and Dr. Platt was summoned. He set and bandaged the boy's leg and has had the case in charge ever since. Arthur, who is 15 years of age, belongs to the Thatcher schools, being a member of R. W. Smith's department. On Wednesday the pupils and teacher expressed their sincere regret to the boy by means of a letter written by the teacher and sent by the hands of a committee appointed to visit their unfortunate school-fellow. A small purse was also made up among the students, which together with knick knacks were placed in the hands of the committee to be delivered along with the letter. The boy is doing as well as might be expected, but as everyone knows, a broken limb besides being a painful companion, is slow to heal and it may be weeks before he is able to walk.

Prof. and Mrs. Emil Maeser went to Tucson on Thursday of last week, returning on Monday last.

The difficulty between the hall committee and the orchestra has been fixed up and everything is again sailing along serenely.

A grand ball will be given in the Assembly hall to-night, to which all are invited.

Fill the Vacancy.

Some time ago A. A. McKinzie resigned as constable of Safford and a petition was presented to the Board for the appointment of Frank Paxton, but when the matter came up the District Attorney gave it as his opinion that the Board does not have the authority to appoint, basing his opinion on the law passed by the last Legislature that only one Justice and one constable shall be elected in precincts having less than 5000 inhabitants at and after the next election. But as this law is not intended to affect those elected at the last election, the resignation of an officer can make no difference, and the Board has a right to fill all vacancies caused by resignation of all officers elected at the last election.

The Territorial Normal.

One of the most successful semester's work of the Territorial Normal School at Tempe, will be completed Jan. 24, and the second semester will begin January 27, and continue for five months.

Most of the work of the classes will change at the beginning of the semester, and it will be a very favorable opportunity for new students to enter the Normal and take up their studies with the classes then founded.

All students who desire to enter the Normal at that time can secure half rates over all the railroads of the Territory by making application at once to the Principal of the Normal.

Work of Sharpers.

The El Paso News says two soldiers bought a cart load of Confederate notes in this country and through an innocent Filipino confederate purchased about everything saleable from native merchants in Manila, before the dealers realized that any currency bearing America could be worthless.

Rich Ore.

They have struck a good size vein of gray copper in the drift which is being run in the San Juan mine at a depth of 200 feet. The piece of ore we saw will average at least 60 per cent in copper. Encountering this class of ore at this depth is certainly very encouraging.

Gone to Carnival.

The following Safford people left for El Paso on Monday last for the purpose of taking in the carnival: Frank Patterson, Herman Strauss, A. J. Schutz, P. J. Jacobson, Nat and Tom Wanslee, Wm. Stark, Geo. A. Olney, Wilber Ijams, Will Freeman, Geo. Taylor and Lester Bingham.

IT IS amusing to see nearly all the Republican newspapers of the Territory say amen to the President's action in appointing Arizona Federal officials while at the same time they are cussing him 23 out of every 24 hours per day.

NOT TRUE.

No Foundation for Reported Murder of Joe Terrel.

On Saturday last Deputy Sheriff Lee Hobbs telephoned the GUARDIAN office from Clifton asking if we knew anything about the reported killing of Joe Terrell, stating that a man had just arrived from the Blue and had circulated the report in Clifton that he had read in the GUARDIAN that Joe Terrell had been shot and killed by a cowboy at the ranch.

Mr. Hobbs was assured that nothing of the kind had ever appeared in the GUARDIAN, but the officers were very uneasy, fearing there might be some truth in the report of the killing.

John Bunton, one of the foremen at the Double Circle ranch arrived in Safford the same day and put all fears at rest by stating that he left the ranch the day before and that Joe was all right and had had no trouble.

Convicted for Sheep Killing.

For the past year or more it has been known that a band of thieves were operating about fifteen or twenty miles north of Metcalf, near Eagle river. Some months ago some stockmen ran onto a Mexican butchering a beef. The Mexican was killed, but still the crooked work went on. During Christmas week a large amount of "jerkey" was brought into Metcalf and offered for sale. Stockman of that section have been on the lookout for the thieves, but it is almost impossible to catch them in the act. Recently, however, the gang confined their operations principally to killing sheep, and some of the Mexican sheep men of that section visited their camp and found a number of sheep pelts, which still showed the marks and brands of their owners. Terrell, Slaughter and Chitty, well known stockmen of Eagle river, assisted by others, raided the camp and arrested W. W. Gunnels, an American and Francisco Moreno, a Mexican. They were tried before Justice Shirley on Monday and convicted under the new law of misdemeanor, and sentenced to six months in jail, the full limit under the law. The Mexican was well pleased, and seemed surprised to get off so light. They were taken to Solomonville Tuesday morning by Constable Burkner, where they will serve out their sentence.

There has been entirely too much thieving in this county during the past year and it must be put down.—Copper Era.

Good Wholesale House.

There are only two strictly wholesale merchandise establishments in Arizona and one of them is located in Safford, that of Solomon & Wickersham.

The GUARDIAN man called at their place of business this week and was courteously shown through the building by Mr. J. M. Foster. We found that this firm carries an immense stock of groceries, wire and patent medicines. They ship everything in by the car load and the three floors of their building are loaded to their full capacity.

This firm does no retail business but confines all its transactions to retail dealers. This firm has made a wonderful growth since coming to Safford. Its sales for 1901 amounted to more than $30,000 over the sales of the previous year.

Shipments Heaviest Known.

According to prominent railroad men and stockmen, the heaviest cattle shipments that has ever been made out of Mexico are now moving north over the international lines. This is said to be due to the fact that the quarantine goes into effect in a short time and the owners of cattle in the republic are taking advantage of a respite given recently by the withholding of the enforcement of the order intended to become operative January 1, but which was suspended for 30 days, caused by pressure brought to bear at Washington by American buyers of Mexican cattle.

The incorporators are G. H. Kelly, of Solomonville; W. H. Kelly, Frank Y. Pinney and J. B. Angius, at Bisbee, and H. S. Van Gorder, of Morenci.—Review.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.
F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.

Gentlemen: — Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and today, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you [illegible]

Very truly yours,

SAMPSON-SCHLEY—

LEE-JACKSON.

Apropos of the Sampson Schley controversy, or rather of the persistent attempt to deprive Schley of his merited share in the glory of the naval battle of Santiago, there is an instance of two Confederate generals claiming the victory after a great battle, and which presents a conspicuous contrast to the spirit of jealousy and ambition that has brought about the investigation which is now attracting both National and international attention.

The night before the battle of Chancellorsville, Lee with 40,000 men, confronted the Federal general, Hooker, with 93,000. Hooker had been in position a sufficient time to be well intrenched when Lee faced him and his position was thereby deemed too strong to be taken by a strictly front assault.

About daylight on the morning of May 2, 1863, the first day of the great battle, Major Hotchkiss, Lee's topographical engineer, reported as he had been directed to do, at Lee's quarters, in the woods. He found Lee and Jackson there seated upon two Federal cracker boxes, and spread before them, on another cracker box, a map, and showed them a road he had discovered leading to Hooker's right rear; and explained as far as he knew the situation of the Federal army. General Lee then said to General Jackson, "What do you propose to do?" He replied, "Go around here," moving his finger over the road the engineer had indicated. Lee said: "What do you propose to make this movement with?" He replied: "With my whole corps." Lee then asked: "What will you leave me?" "The two divisions of Anderson and McLaws," (about 14000), said Jackson. "Well, go on," said Lee; then with a pencil he gave Jackson his last instructions, says: "General Stewart will cover your movement with his cavalry." Jackson smiled saluted his commander in chief and said: "My troops" (30,000) "will move at once, sir," and they did.

What sublime audacity on the part of these great captains! What a dangerous violation of the long established rule of war, not to divide an inferior in the presence of a superior force. But Lee k ew the measure of Hooker's military enterprise, and he also knew and relied on the splendid generalship of Jackson, who was to conduct the daring movement. This knowledge and the mutual confidence that Lee and Jackson had in each other perhaps justified Lee's apparent desperation.

After a march of fifteen miles, Jackson reached Hooker's right rear in the afternoon and fell upon it with the unexpectedness and fury of a thunderbolt from a clear sky. He swept diagonally down upon Hooker's line, driving every thing before him till night put an end to the battle and saved Hooker from a complete rout.

During the night, while making a personal reconnoissance for a night attack, Jackson, by mistake, was fired upon by his own men and mortally wounded, but lived eight days. During the night Hooker reformed, as best he could his shattered and routed lines; and early the next morning Lee, with Stuart in command of Jackson's corps, renewed the attack and by 10 o'clock Hooker, with what was left of his splendid army of 93,000, was in full and fighting retreat before what remained of the invincible little army of North Virginia.

When Jackson was told that Lee had won the victory, he sent him a note of congratulations, and here is what Colonel Marshall of Lee's staff says of Lee's reply: "At the moment when the transports of his (Lee's) victorious troop were drowning the road of battle with acclamations, a note was brought to him from General Jackson. It was brought to General Lee as he sat on his horse near the Chancellorville house and unable to open it with his gauntleted hands, he passed it to me, with instructions to read it to him. The note made no mention of the wound that General Jackson had received, but congratulated General Lee upon the great victory.

"I shall never forget the look of pain and anguish that passed over his face as he listened. With a voice broken with emotion, he bade me say to General Jackson that the victory was his, and that congratulations were due to him I do not know how others may regard this incident, but for myself, as I gave expression to the thoughts of the exalted mind, I forgot the genius that had won the day in my reverence for the generosity that refused the glory.

It was Jackson who made the "loop" at Chancellorsville, and his chief gave him the glory of the victory. It was Schley who made the "loop" and won the victory at Santiago, but his chief claimed the glory and discredited the "loop." It was Schley who delivered the chief blows that destroyed the Spanish squadron, but he is denied the victory. It was Jackson, the thunderbolt of war, who hurled the first lightning that struck, maimed and mangled Hooker's army, and it was Lee who completed the victory so brilliantly begun by Jackson. The admiring and reverential subordinate gave the credit to his honored chief who, with his accustomed justice and magnanimity, not only refused the proffered laurel, but promptly returned it to decorate for the last time the pallid brow of his dying lieutenant.

Jackson claimed the victory for Lee, but Lee claimed the victory and established it for Jackson. But these majestic and matchless men were not fighting for glory or conquest, but for the freedom and independence of their stricken country. Besides, there is but one Lee and but one Jackson, God bless them both!—General G. W. Gordon in Memphis Commercial Appeal.

THE Phoenix Republican offers the following excellent suggestion in regard to the rearing of boys: "If a man had a bull pup he would look after it carefully and not let it run all over town at night. But if he has a boy it is different. He is turned loose at a tender age, to go to the bad, and people wonder where the great army of tramps, bums, deadbeats, loafers and gamblers come from. They are germinated from pure seed gathered from home, sown broad cast on the streets and alleys. The boys ought to be given a showing equal to that of the bull pup."

A NEW YORK reporter stationed at a street corner in the shopping district counted the long and short skirts worn by the ladies who passed during one hour. Of the 320 women who went by, seventy-five per cent wore short skirts. The good sense of American women is evidently effecting a reform which legislation would be powerless to accomplish

THE most encouraging feature of wireless telegraphy is the possibility that it will afford complete protection from collision to ocean vessels. Nothing heretofore invented has accomplished this, but on her last voyage the Umbria was made aware, by wireless telegraphy, of the presence of another vessel when it was still seventy-five miles distant.

A WISCONSIN man named Creeper named his daughter Alice Virginia and now her schoolmates torment her by writing it "A. Virginia Creeper."

"SIXTY per cent of the candidates for enlistment in General Baden-Powell's police have been rejected on the ground of bad teeth," says a London cablegram. Evidently England has come to a point where she must recruit among the lame and the aged.

ALTHOUGH the United States has taken no part officially in the British-Boer war, according to the Rev. Mr. Broekhuysen, her citizens have contributed over $50,000 to the cause, the largest contribution the Boers have received from outside sources.

NEW SOUTH WALES has passed a law making arbitration in labor disputes compulsory. This is following the precedent set by New Zealand about five years ago, which has so far proved eminently satisfactory to both employer and employed.

IF the cattle men of the Territory wish to prevent the proposed lease law of grazing lands now before congress which provides that a minium of 2 cents per acre shall be paid, they should exert a united effort and do it quick.

IF King Ed expects the Boers to grant him amnesty, he'd better crawl under the ropes and throw up the sponge right now. It is better to quit than to suffer a knockout.
